Rentz Instructions Project README

As this is a rather unorthodox file format for a project submission, this document explains what is in the .zip file I've turned in, in the event that you aren't sure how to view it or if something doesn't look right when you open the website. I've formatted my instructions project into a website that I built with HTML and CSS. I've included a screenshot of this website in its entirety, though the .gifs and video file that I have included on the website will not play in the screenshot. To get the whole website to work, extract the .zip folder so that it is a normal file folder and not a .zip folder. Then, clicking on the Instructions.html file should open the site with the intended graphics and .gifs working properly. To view my code, you can open the .html and .css files in notepad, though notepad++ is the software I used to build this code, and might make the code easier to see.
